METHOD AND APPARATUS
FOR ISSUING PRODUCT NOTICES

5

Product notices are received from a user by way of a wide area network connection. Web pages are used to obtain a product identifier. A signal command is generated according to the product identifier and is directed to a 10 signal transmitter. The signal transmitter may be remotely located, in which case the signal command is sent to the signal transmitter by way of a wide area network connection.
